Is this a Mission Trip?

Go For Hope Trips are similar to a mission trip with a couple of important distinctions:

Family-friendly :: We have hand-selected the projects, homestay accommodations, and activities with your entire family in mind. Some families may even choose to replace their annual vacation to Disneyland, Hawaii or Sun River with a Go For Hope Family Adventure.

Share the Experience :: Invite your friends, neighbors and co-workers to travel with you. We have selectively eliminated activities unique to faith-based missions (i.e. evangelism, church planting, discipleship) in favor of a service-based approach. North American Christians and non-Christians alike will experience spiritual and emotional renewal in connection with the hearts and lifestyles they encounter in Nicaragua.

Long-term approach :: Child health and welfare problems in the developing world cannot be solved in a week. Rather than seek to implement our own external solution to these problems, you will serve alongside several existing programs and successful community-based organizations. Your trip is designed to whet your appetite for international compassion, and spark your desire to make meaningful choices for years to come.

How will my family be serving?

Service is the hand of compassion. Go For Hope has partnered with some of the most impactful and successful community-based child welfare programs in Southern Nicaragua:

San Juan del Sur Biblioteca Móvil:: Founded in 2001, the SJdS Library was the first lending library in Nicaragua. Today, the mobile library empowers more than 3800 students through literacy programs. Your family will work hand in hand to deliver books and services to students in rural and outlying areas of San Juan del Sur.

Los Quinchos:: Founded in 1991, the "Los Quinchos" project provides a safe environment for abandoned, mistreated and orphaned children. Your family will join the kids of Los Quinchos for a day of games, crafts, and simply spending time together.

What is the next step?

1. Complete the Information Form on the first page and return it to us.
2. Begin praying for God's providence and life in abundance for the children of Nicaragua, and for your children as well.
